Learning aim	A: Understand the roles and responsibilities of the officials involved in sport
Assignment title	Roles and Responsibilities of Officials
Assessor
Issue date
Hand in deadline

Vocational Scenario or Context	You are currently studying for your officiating qualifications and as part of your course you have been asked to produce a written report that demonstrates the roles and responsibilities of officials in sport. You will need to assess the influence of the media on changes to rules/laws and regulations. It will also be important to assess how advances in technology have influenced the roles and responsibilities. This is a key component of your officiating qualification and therefore it is important that you produce a detailed report.

Task 1	a) Select a sport and explain its current day rules/laws and regulations. You should identify key changes that have occurred and assess the history of the rules/laws and regulations, the role of the media must be considered as one of these key factors. b) Consider key points in the history of the sport that have led to future changes to the roles and responsibilities of the officials. Analyse these key changes, discussing their impact on the roles and responsibilities. You should give reasons for your decision on the impact, providing examples as evidence, for the identified changes that took place. c) Provide a conclusion on the different types of influences that have led to changes in rules/laws, regulations and the roles and responsibilities of officials. Which in your opinion, were the positive and negative factors and had the most significant impact? Again it is important to support your judgements with relevant evidence.
